START-UP STORY

The Engineers & Founders of FRENVI, Phani & Abhi started thinking about various zero-waste solutions during their studies in Germany. Inspired from their part-time job, they conceived the idea of edible cutlery. After countless failed attempts and burning spoons, they developed EATlery®. Their passion and innovation earned them a scholarship to support their startup, marking the beginning of their entrepreneurial journey.

OUR MISSION IS ...

to offer nature-based alternatives to single-use plastic/disposable tableware products to decrease the consumption of plastic cutlery with an edible alternatives to implement strategies to reduce the carbon footprint & Strengthen the focus on LCA to remain in line with the "Circular Bio-Economy"

Our Infrastructure

Frenvi's production facility houses the world's largest edible cutlery manufacturing machines, with a production capacity of up to 300 million units per year. The patent-pending machines are housed on a 2,200-sqm site in the suburbs of Bengaluru, India.

We have production capabilities to manufacture 250,000 Units per day of Tasty Maxi and 900,000 Units per day of Tasty Mini, Tasty Pixy, Tasty Stirry. The facility is constructed in accordance with British Retail Consortium (BRC) standards complimented with HACCP, ISO 22000 and FDA certifications.

The globally recognized quality standards and certifications make us a reliable manufacturer and attracts several globally renowned retailers, distributors and consumers across the globe for whom quality is a paramount.

The global disposable tableware market's worth of $29.7 billion and a 4% annual growth rate contribute to escalating plastic pollution. Frenvi addresses this concern through robust research, technology, and mass production capabilities, offering EATlery® products that meet internationally recognized quality standards.

Our contribution to Climate Protection

EATlery®, the eco-friendly plastic alternative

More than 368 million tons of plastic waste are being produced globally every year. The plastic waste management system accounted for 18% of plastic re-cycling, 24% were incinerated, while the remaining 58% ended up as landfills in natural environment.

Several regions and market players from Europe, Australia, Canada, USA, India and UK have amended new laws to phase out Single-use Plastics products like cutlery to cater to the rising demand for change.

Climate protection is close to our hearts.

The life cycle assessment table shows, that EATlery® is the most sustainable alternative:

Production (per 1,000kg material)	Energy Consumption	Water Consumption	CO² Emissions
Polypropylene (PP)	20.760 kWh	43.079 L	1.680 kg
Polystyrene (PS)	25.07 kWh	172.780 L	2.530 kg
Wood	9.520 kWh	15.300 L	2.000 kg
Bio-Plastic (PLA)	11.930 kWh	69.730 L	6.380 kg
EATlery® (edible)	4.600 kWh	12.000 L	1.270 kg

▶ PLA or "Bio-Plastic" has a 2 to 6 times worse environmental footprint in comparison to the alternatives

▶ The commonly perceived wood, as "eco-friendly material" in reality, has adverse effect on the environment, especially in the categories energy and CO² consumption.
