COTTON CANVAS & CANVAS TARPULIN

TRUCK TARPULIN

Our water resistant Heavy Weight Canvas tarpaulins are manufactured from single filled cotton duck. These heavyweight sheets are 18oz before proofing, resulting in a robust finished weight of 18oz after wax treatment.

Made from 100% cotton, these tan canvas tarpaulins offer a natural alternative to plastic tarpaulins. As they are heavy weight compared to most other tarps they drape well and are more resistant to abrasion and punctures while remaining breathable. Rust resistant brass eyelets are set into tabs at 3 ft intervals along the edge and on all four corners. Hems and seams are single-stitched.

As our canvas tarps are fabricated from a natural fabric, these tarps are breathable; however please be aware a minimal amount of shrinkage can occur where canvas tarpaulins are subject to varying temperatures. Our robust canvas tarps are wax-proofed to make them water-resistant; they will require re-treating after a period of exposure to water and the elements, in order to maintain their resistant properties.

- Heavyweight 18oz material when proofed
- Produced to finished size - manufacturing tolerance max. 5cm

Artificial grass terminology

Yarn: The individual blades and fibers which combine to create the artificial grass' natural appearance. Artificial grass yarn comes in different shapes that have unique properties of their own for various settings.

Pile height: The overall maximum height of the longest blades in the yarn. Whilst the height of each blade may vary throughout an imitation lawn, for a more natural look, artificial grass pile height is measured by the tallest blades and does not include the base.

Pile weight: The weight of the yarn (blades of grass), excluding the backing material. Artificial grass pile weight is often an indicator of quality in artificial grass pile density too.

Thatch: The brown curly fibers at the base of the grass which mimic the effect of 'thatch' seen in natural grass.

Density: An indication of the number of blades per square meter. A high density artificial grass equates to greater weight and overall thickness.

PU backing: The polyurethane backing to which the yarn is attached and which provides strength. PU backed artificial grass enhances moisture resistance and fortifies the grass against fluctuations in weather conditions.

Latex backing: A type of natural rubber backing to which the yarn is attached and which also provides strength.

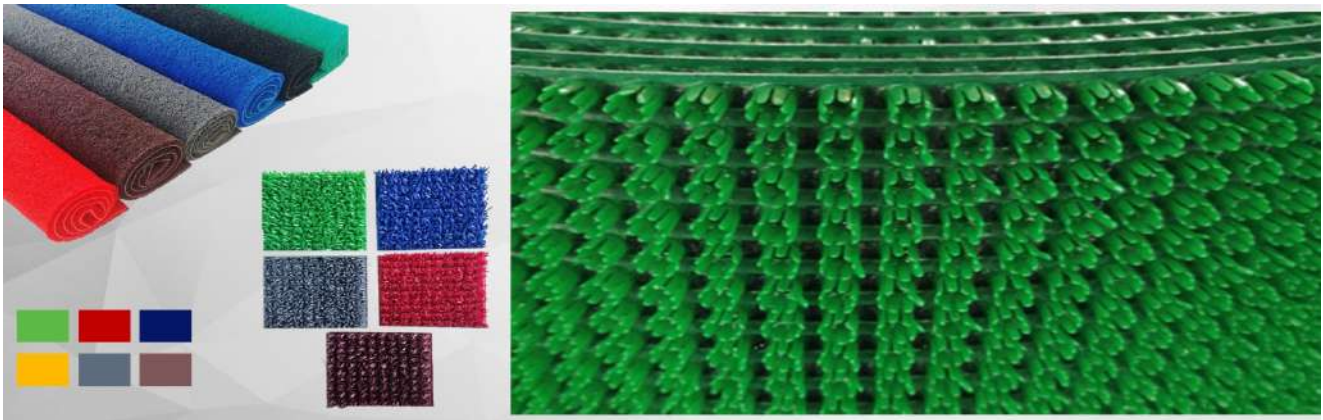

Drainage holes: Small holes in the backing which allow water to drain through to the subsoil.

Pile direction: Artificial grass pile direction is the way in which the blades tend to lean in relation to the roll length.
