Bep Edu World, your trusted partner in educational and scientific instruments. Established in 2008 by Mr. R Singh, we are proud to be headquartered in Pune, Maharashtra, India. With over a decade of experience, we have grown to become a leading exporter, supplier and distributor of a diverse range of specialized equipment catering to educational, scientific, and medical sectors worldwide.

At Bep Edu World, our commitment lies in providing high-quality instruments that meet the needs of educators, scientists, researchers, and medical professionals. Our product range includes refractor telescopes, educational globes, global positioning systems, environmental testing instruments, survey instruments, weather instruments, medical training manikins, medical training models, and medical charts. Each product is carefully selected and sourced to ensure reliability, accuracy, and educational value.

We take pride in fostering innovation and learning through our products. Whether you are enhancing classroom lessons with our educational globes and charts or conducting precise field surveys with our survey and weather instruments, our goal is to empower our customers with the tools they need to succeed.

Beyond providing products, we prioritize customer satisfaction and long-term relationships. Our team is dedicated to offering exceptional service, from product selection to after-sales support. We understand the importance of reliability in our industry, which is why we partner with reputable manufacturers and ensure rigorous quality control measures.

As a socially responsible company, we also strive to contribute positively to our community and environment. We adhere to ethical business practices and sustainable sourcing principles, minimizing our environmental footprint wherever possible.

At Bep Edu World, we envision a future where knowledge and innovation flourish hand in hand. Whether you are a school looking to equip your science lab, a research institution exploring new frontiers, or a medical facility training the next generation of health-care professionals, Bep Edu World is here to support your journey towards excellence.
