Incepted in the year 1986 at Delhi (India), we at Amit Surgical are one of the most well recognised company with an in-depth experience in manufacturing, exporting and supplying an extensive range of Medical Equipment like Anaesthesia Apparatus, Oxygen Therapy Equipment, Silicone Resuscitators, Respiratory Care Devices, Breathing Systems and other Surgery Aiding Accessories that have exponential application in various disciplines across the globe.

Our complete range is manufactured from a variety of premium grade and pretested factor inputs procured from the reliable vendors of the market, leading to near zero return rates for faulty medical equipment and instruments. Known for their durable performance, perfect applicability, functional aptness and sturdiness, our products are manufactured in compliance with global quality standard and quality checked by a qualified staff prior to dispatch. Leveraging on our vision to harness the most advanced product development technologies for simplification of processes and rapid business expansion & growth, we have installed the most advanced facilities in our top notch infrastructure facility.

The widespread and latest infrastructural facility has immensely supported us to conduct an extensive research, test, production, packaging and other administrative work with utmost perfection and integrity, helping us come up with the most innovative range of medical equipment and instruments that fully align with the specific needs and requirements of our valued clients. These perfectly segregated units permit us in smooth execution and complete all business operations. Moreover, we regularly update our facility according to the innovative technology present in the market.

Besides, being a reputable manufacturer and exporter, we sustain a policy of timely product delivery by stocking a comprehensive line of these equipment and instruments at our central warehouse available for immediate dispatch to the client on receipt of an order. Further, we are facilitated with a large number of experienced professionals who are helping us to attain the top level of customer satisfaction by consistently giving the most reliable services to our customer worldwide. Due to their efforts, we are well positioned to give prompt, safe, customer friendly and committed interface, resulting in the best delivery, products, customer support and after sales services.
